A Return to Love

Dear Beloveds,

In some ways, to say that we will return to love is misleading.

This is because we will return to love when we understand that we never left the love behind in the first place.

You are the love. The Experiment is the love. Everything is and has always been the love. We are incredibly excited to see how you have chosen, are choosing, and will continue to choose to be and experience the love.

We know that the journey is not without its bumps, but remember that you have never left the loving hands of the God/Goddess, All That Is. Take encouragement!

With the greatest of love,
